

'At Home' Lent group on Zoom

Caring for Creation

Introduction

For our journey through Lent we have found a booklet called Caring for Creation as our guide. It was written by Canon Brian Davis, a retired Vicar who lives in Market Harborough and is currently chair of Eco Church Harborough.

We traditionally associate the season of Lent with giving up something, perhaps chocolate or alcohol, with the restraint exercised being good for ourselves both physically and spiritually. We often choose to take more time for prayer and reflection, for Bible reading and maybe some study through taking a Lent course.

The growing awareness of threats to the future health of the planet presented by climate change connect our personal restraint with that of others to the benefit of not (just) ourselves but of humanity as a whole!

How does our Christian faith relate to the environment and our care for it? Does the ancient text of the Bible have anything to say that's pertinent to an issue that has only come to fore in our lifetimes? What part should church play in the addressing the crisis? Maybe this Lent will be not just good for ourselves but also for humanity as a whole!

Ash Wednesday is 2nd March. We share start our series on the evening of the following Wednesday meeting at 7:30pm on Zoom using the 'Virtual Services' ID: 697 715 534.
